

Wescom

The studio at 3 Freyer Street, Williamstown was completed last week, after 5 months of work by Turtle Video.

The studio is housed in a building owned by the North Williamstown primary school, which has been renovated by Community Outreach (it is an old house), a group of people associated with the school concerned that the school's resources should be used by the community.

The facilities of the studio include an editing/control room, which houses a half-inch editing system; special effects and mixing console with genlocking facility; audio mixing and dubbing facilities. This room has an observation window through to a large multi-purpose room which we will use as a studio and share with other people such as community outreach, a music group, mother's club, etc. The control/editing room is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Access to the studio/multi-purpose space is by arrangement with Community Outreach and we have presently arranged to use it from Thursday through Monday each week.

We have presently negotiated to borrow studio cameras from Carlton Video Centre for a minimum of four days per fortnight, to facilitate a production schedule based upon a number of local groups using the studio space. Other groups who wish to use the studio may be able to fit into these times, otherwise the space would be available on alternate weekends, but people would have to borrow cameras if they wished to do studio production work.

The editing system is set up permanently, and is available by contacting Western Communications.

A series of workshops will be run on Sunday afternoons at the studio, from Sunday, the 6th of June at 1 pm.

The cost of the workshops is two dollars each, and interested people should contact Western Communications.

3

The studio at 3 Freyer Street, Williamstown was completed last week, after 5 months of work by Turtle Video.

The studio is housed in a building owned by the North Williamstown primary school, which has been renovated by Community Outreach (it is an old house), a group of people associated with the school concerned that the school's resources should be used by the community.

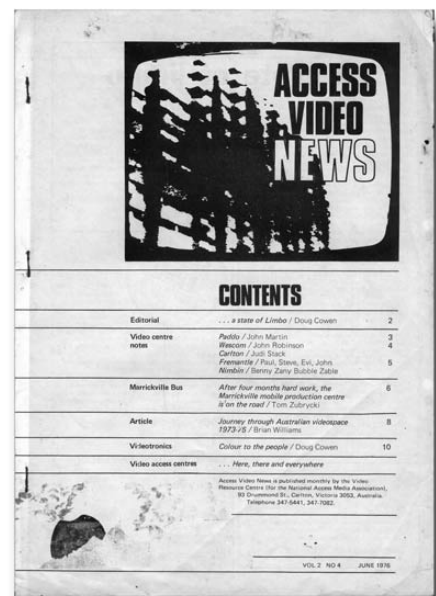

The facilities of the studio include an editing/control room, which houses a half-inch editing system; special effects and mixing console with gen locking facility; audio mixing and dubbing facilities. This room has an observation window through to a large multi-purpose room which we will use as a studio and share with other people such as community outreach, a music group, mothers club etc. The control/editing room is available 24hours a day, 7 days a week.

Access to the studio/multi-purpose space is by arrangement with Community Outreach and we have presently arranged to use it from Thursday through Monday each week.

We have presently negotiated to borrow studio cameras from Carlton for a minimum of four days per fortnight, to facilitate a production schedule based upon a number of local groups using the studio space. Other groups who wish to use the studio may be able to fit into these times, otherwise the space would be available on alternate weekends, but people would have to borrow cameras if they wished to do studio production work.

The editing system is set up permanently, and is available by contacting Western Communications.

A series of workshops will be run on Sunday afternoons at the studio, from Sunday, the 6th of June at 1pm. The cost of the workshops is two dollars each, and interested people should contact Western Communications.

from Page 3
Access Video News June 1976
by John Robinson